Horizontal Levee

This concept (also called ecotone levees or living levees) aims to integrate flood control with habitat restoration in a way that can provide wastewater treatment while simultaneously providing ecosystem benefits — all with a much lower price tag as compared to gray water infrastructure alternatives.